

Good Grief

In one day, I have 3 different people contact me through my fake MySpace profile and start up chats with me (Matilda, Tina Brown, Rosaline Dean) and one person started chatting with me from an old loan scam – all at the same time! I actually had 4 chat boxes open while I was at work (which was not cool). This was one of the three from MySpace – she is extremely stupid and possibly very new at this...

Hi Tina;

That's an interesting tale you spun. Must have taken a while for someone to copy and paste that all together. It is very interesting how you enrolled in school to study Zoology to accomplish your dream of becoming a banker. Very interesting route you are taking there. I can see how studying the mating habits of the purple-headed trouser snake could segway right into supply-side economics. Very admirable. Why would you go to Nigeria to school to study Zoology if you want to be a banker??? Nigeria has the worst schools in the world, I heard. And the worst people. And smell, for that matter. Anywho, if you see me online feel chat to give me a holler, I would love to chat with you. That would be a hoot!

Greg

tina brown (9:59 AM): Well am not that if you think so

tina brown (9:59 AM): Ok

tina brown (9:59 AM): MAD MAN

Immediately after this chat session, I reported her email to Yahoo Abuse and had it shut down. I know I could have did this one longer and probably a lot better, but I had three of these chat scams all at the same time who would contact and relatively the same time at work, and this was the worst of the three so I got overly critical with her...
