

An Itch To Switch

Once again, the dating scammers from Dating72.com strike terror into the hearts of reasonable people. This genius has multiple fake profiles in Yahoo Messenger, and for some reason he decided to switch profiles to talk to Linda. Unfortunately for him, he announced his intentions to Linda - for what reason, I have no idea. Yes, this seems plausible to him that he could begin talking to Linda as Thomas Peter and mid-stream switch to Canny Bolton. Still wondering why all Nigerians are poor?

*****

At this point in time, I get a new message in Yahoo from "Canny Bolton" for a friend request. Mind you, not only does this profile have a completely different name as Thomas Bolton, but a completely different picture as well. He thinks this is no big deal, I guess.

*****

I haven't seen either of these two profiles online for days. I think he went to his backup fake profiles. One thing I find strange is that when the scammers say they will delete me after I start with the insults, they never do. I have blocked profiles in Yahoo before and it works fine - never to be contacted again. The scammers always ask me to delete them, which I dont do because I usually like to harass them online. But when they say they will delete me, they never do. Why?
