

Manzella And Sharvell

This idiot contacts me, and then someone named Sean Sharvell contacts as well. After seeing them log in and out at the same exact time, I know that they are the same person. This is most likely one of my earlier scambait victims who decided to try again. This fool is a glutton for punishment.

debbiedawson0404: If you foul people would kill each other off, the world would be a better place

He is not responding to me anymore. The chat transcript below, takes place at about the same time as the first one. Sometimes he would talk to me as Darren, sometimes as Sean. Look at the similarities in the language. When he says "Babe, lets just talk in sense", at that point I know they are both the same person, because they both said that.

I think this idiot was mad that I saw thru both his fake profiles, and the last half of this chat session was him logging in and out, just yelling curses at me. I didn't bother separating them and just grouped them all together. Can you believe that this idiot thinks he could scam me?
