

Smoke Em' Peace Pipe

This short scambait in a chat room reinforces my question about why would a West African scammer try to pose as an American when they can't speak English very well. I have been screwing with the idiots on www.dating72.com – I have chatted with a ton of scammers from my fake profile – truly hilarious!!! When filling out a profile, one of your choices to fill in is ethnicity, and the first one by default is Native American. Of course there is also Caucasian, which is the correct choice for the stolen fair-skinned white girl pic in their profile picture – they don't know that "Native American" means Indian...

This is the profile pic of my "Indian Friend".

This is also a testament of the egos of these fools – they would rather look like a fool and continue the lie and make matters worse (and funnier), than to admit that they said something wrong.
