

Where's Jeanie?

This was a short chat scambait that may not be over. I keep getting contacted (Debbie) from people out of the blue – they may be all the same person or group. They are usually military men, 46 years old, lost their wives two years back, and have one child. This was another in a bunch, but he wouldn't tell me where he got my contact from...

I just love the name – if you didn't know, Tony Nelson is the name in "I Dream of Jeanie". These idiots keep contacting Debbie with the same modality – if it is the same person, he is a freaking idiot because in most of my other scambaits, in the end I told him I knew he was a scammer from Africa the whole time. So why would he create a new profile, and try again? This may be a scammer from a group or at the least, my contact was passed around to other scammers which would explain why he wouldn't answer where he got it from.
