

Dueling Jimbos

This was hilarious. I baited some fool before with the name Jim Ovia, and I recently receive an email that says "...Jim Ovia, from the United Nations Payment Office...blah, blah, blah" about transferring money due to me for whatever silly reason. And Jim Ovia has a Yahoo address so I decide to play like he is a forgotten love interest of Debbie who she couldn't get a hold of. Look how easily he assumes the role as Debbie's Jim, and look at his explanation of why he told Debbie that after Debbie realizes it not the same Jim.

He logs out after finally playing the money angle. He only pays $300/month in rent and has a great job where "his boss likes him so much...", and he can't afford it??? LOL – unfortunately, as good as this was getting – he never responded back to me and I never saw him online again. I know, bad ending...but I actually tried keeping this alive by sending him IM messages, but never heard from him again. Sorry everyone...
