

Not So Wise MUGU

This was most likely someone I had talked to before, but under a different name. What happens on occasion, is that for some reason or another, I will find a reason to end the conversation just to be difficult (for example, when they tell me their age, I will say you are too young or too old, etc.) and what they will usually do is contact me again with a new profile and a different age. This was probably someone I shot down before because he claims to have my three pictures of "Debbie", though I never sent him any. I guess he doesn't know what a scambaiter is, because this fool thinks I am a scammer.
