

Spam I Am

This was a part of a larger scam involving a grant from the IMF – they want to give me free money for some reason. Supposedly, the money was to be transferred from Chase Bank and I was dealing with the actual CEO of Chase Bank, who apparently doubles as a customer service rep in his spare time. For an educated American, Mr. Jamie Dimon has some horrible writing and grammar skills.

The first email I received from this idiot came into my Spam Box, in which I replied from (on accident). Every mail he sent me since then was addresses to Spam Folder, instead of my name. Also, his gay little email form he wanted me to fill out was already partially filled out by another possible victim.

*****

Are you sure this is meant for the right person? Why is it addressed to Spamfolder?

Hello;

I have a couple of questions – why do you keep addressing me as “Spam Folder”?

The next question is on the information request on your email (copied below), you put "Present Occupation:Chef" and "Are You A Property Owner? No" – these questions were already filled in and they are wrong. I am not a chef and I am a property owner. What is this all about? Are you stupid?

Please explain.

Dear:Mr.Thomas Payne,

Based on my last e-mail conversation regarding the funds transfer into your Swiss account, you funds has been placed on hold until the completion of the verification. In other to secure the funds properly in our bank, an account has been opened on your name.

However, the account is not yet activated until the activation of the account is been paid which is the sun of Three Thousand Five hundred dollars has been paid.

Go <https://chaseonline.chase.com/Logon.aspx> and view your online account below is your online account information.

Username: Thospayne

Password: 8976654

As soon as the money for the activating is been received your fund will be into your new online account with us and also with the $3,500 that you will send.

Get back to me soon so that i will give you the information you will use to send the money.

Thank you for using JPMorgan Chase Bank.

They gave me a URL to a fake website – Chase Bank’s web address is Chase.com, not Chaseonline.chase.com. The website was not bad, but most of the links didn’t work – of course this is because they only expect you to follow their instructions and use the fake login page. What I said below is a lie, the login worked – I typed in a made up name and password just so I could copy the error and give it to them like there was something wrong with their fake site.

When I enter that username and password into the chase website, it says unable to log on. (see below)

What is the deal?

Attn: Mr.Thomas Payne,

I wish to let you know that following the meeting heard yesterday by the United Nations Secretary General, Mr. Ban Ki-Moon and the Executive Board of Director United Nations branches all over the World concerning your fund which has been transferred to Bank of America. However, I want you to know that you have to be extremely serious with your fund transaction now it is there in your country United States because your fund is no longer in our bank vault. So you have to pay attention in any instruction given to you by the Bank of America if you really wish to have your fund from them as this is the only advice I can give to you now.

You have to always make sure you call them and respond to their emails make sure you furnish them with any information they may require from you that will help them in transferring your fund into your local bank account there in the state. Because right now your fund has been deposited with the Bank of America there in your country you should know that it will not cost you much for the final processing to enable them to remit to your own local bank account there in the state. So I will advise you to follow them in good faith and honesty and believing that there is nothing God cannot do for his children to achieve what belongs to them in this life.

BELOW HERE ARE THEIR CONTACT DETAILS:

Contact Person: Dr. Bruce Morgan
Executive Manager Bank of America
Tel: 1 800 820 7932
Fax: 1 206 339 6571
E-mail: america.bankof@rocketmail.com

I will advise you to have them contacted for further communication in regards of the final transfer of your fund to your bank account. As soon as you send email to them make sure you call them on phone for fast communication in regards of this matter, and ensure you comply with them with any of their instructions to you on how you are to receive your fund from their bank. I will be waiting to read from you concerning your correspondence with them.

Thank you for your good understanding and co-operation and God bless you.

Mr. James Dimon
Chairman Of The Board And Chief Executive Officer CEO.

Hello – I am supposed to contact you about having my fund transferred to my account. I hope you speak and write English better than the last moron I talked to (James Dimon). His emails were extremely hard to understand and half of the things he said didn't make any sense at all. I just hate when companies hire uneducated foreigners as customer service reps. If companies want to hire these degenerates, they should put them out of the public eye, like as a janitor or in the mailroom – not dealing with customers of my caliber. Anywho, let me know what I have to do to get this money transferred.

Thanks,

Thomas

This was the last I heard from these morons. I guess they didn't like my derogatory comments about their CEO/Customer Service Rep. I just love it when these uneducated, West African gutter-scum try to pose as white, educated, professional Americans. It's hilarious! Re-read all of his emails – do they sound like an educated, full-blooded American wrote them? Of course not – first of all, businesses do make references to God and Jesus in every correspondence. Second, the choice of phrases these idiots use is a dead giveaway!
