

What Dreams Are Made Of

I blew it on this one – this one could have been so funny because this scammer was one of the dumbest people on the planet. In my scams (mainly in chat rooms), I like to ask monetary questions to the scammers – for example, one chat scammer said his London apartment was pretty expensive and he needed help with his rent – he was the REMITTANCE Director at a bank and his rent was $150 /month. I’ve had girls (Romance Scammers) tell me that they make $350.00 a month in their professional, 40-hour a week position. I point out that this is well below minimum wage and therefore against Federal Law. These morons have no concept of monetary values anywhere except in their own little nasty country. I just couldn’t stop making fun of this turd...

Attention: Mr. Calvin Hobbs

Yes am really serious of what am saying, and am also waiting to receive your full information as it requested from you. Mr. Calvin i wan you to take this seriously and confidantial to your self till you finalize this transfer of your benefit. In my previous mails i told you there, that this office is required for the officials asking fee which is $700 for the issuing of the approval certificate on your name as the right beneficiary to the said funds .

What am expecting from you is to forward your full information as it requested one again, because the Federal Government In Nigeria we ask for the Original Payment Certificate before they can instruct the Central Bank Of Nigeria to handover your total fund to our company here in London so that we can proceed with the Transfer into your monitory bank account. I want you to hurry and pay the British Finance Officials charges. And i also want to put this into your notice that i'm travel down to Nigeria next Tomorrow to present my self on your behalf immediatly i confirm your full data.

Waiting to read from you soonest.

Re-read your previous email to me again. You want to give me $900,000,000.00 because my name was approved on some contract sum that I know nothing about? Can you read? Let me ask again - $900,000,000.00??? That is almost one billion dollars that you say you are going to pay me. I understand that you are not real intelligent and maybe don't know how to write monetary figures, but tell me is that what you mean?

You want to give me almost one billion dollars? Is that right? Are you sure?

I didn't say you were a liar, coke-fiend; I was just making the point that $700 was a little steep for a $900,000,000.00 transfer. Maybe we could work something out? Negotiate the fee a little? I already have all of this money spent, so if you let me make payments after the transfer is received, I will make it worth your while. How does a shiny new nickel sound, huh?

Oh my gawd! You are the biggest idiot that I have ever talked to. Do you think that I believe that for no reason, someone is sending me close to one billion dollars. Does your parents know that you are a fool? I would have liked to keep this going forever, but after your last response, I laughed so hard that I peed a little.

The only advice I can really give you is that if you actually know who your parents are, to find them, walk up to them, and slap them both across the face. The real crime is theirs. Were they brother and sister? How you manage to function on a daily basis just boggles the mind. I read about people like you, but I did not really believe what I read. But you are living proof that you do not need a brain to function (or use a computer to steal from innocent people). I believe that criminals who do what you do should be locked up, tortured, beaten daily, for all of their pathetic lives, but in your case, I think your stupidity is punishment enough. I feel ill when I think about what a moron you are. God sure is vengeful, huh?
